

PHD ETHICS

PHD and Affiliates will use canine training, socialization and behavioral rehabilitation techniques that conform to LIMA professional best practice standards: <https://apdt.com/about/position-statements/> This means that: a) the PHD trainer or Affiliate (when appropriate) will assess a situation to determine the most gentle and effective techniques appropriate for use, b) the PHD trainer or Affiliate will continually seek additional education with the objectives of evaluating and improving knowledge of the field, skillset, and methods.

PHD and Affiliates will abide by the Association of Professional Dog Trainers Code of Ethics: <https://apdt.com/about/code-professional-ethics/>

PHD and Affiliates will demonstrate respect for human diversity by: a) showing multicultural awareness and competency in communication and actions both personally and professionally, and b) continually seeking learning opportunities with the goal of increasing multicultural competency and communications skills.